

THE SEVEN DEVILS

More of Idaho's Rich Mineral Section.

THE MINES ON RUBY CREEK

The Brigham City Marble Quarries Yield a Very Fine Quality of Stone—Inexhaustible in Quantity.

The correspondent of the Anaconda Standard gives a clear and correct account of the mines, giving them full credit for their wonderful richness, and for the vast quantities of ore in sight. And that the section is one that fully warrants the attention of capitalists and well equipped prospectors; but that it is not at present any place for men or miners who require immediate employment. All this is strictly true; and it is but just that all concerned should know it. To such as can afford it, there is no better field for prospecting, and men of money who want to invest in mining properties cannot find a more promising camp. The immense wealth and permanency of the mineral deposits are beyond question or doubt. The requirements are money to develop the properties; machinery to reduce the ore, and railway transportation. Eighty miles of railroad would settle the question. Easy of construction; and all the way through a settled paying country, would give the world access to the most valuable and diversified mineral deposits on the Pacific coast, situated in a country that for climate and general attractiveness far exceeds Utah or Colorado: this is saying much; but it is a fact. So far the proper influences have not been brought to bear to direct the proper parties to these facts. Other localities with more powerful influences, knowing that the development of this scheme would be the ruin of the country, have blocked the wheels of progress, and kept us practically at a stand still, but like all other opportunities, it will not remain open forever; and those who take hold will reap a rich reward, and give life to the country and work to the thousands. Aside from the mineral resources that such a road would open up, the timber, agriculture and stock raising interests of the country. Seven Devil district, in addition to the gold, silver and copper is known to contain asbestos and iron. Lime rock of the best quality is also abundant: in fact it is a country that needs careful investigation.

Ruby Creek Mines.
The Ruby Creek mines, twenty miles east of Moscow, are attracting a great deal of attention. No less than 200 prospectors are there at the present time, nearly all of them having gone within the past three weeks. Two or three returned to this city Wednesday and report some of the best strikes of silver ore that have ever been made in the northwest, some of it assaying as high as $2 per cent. In a few places chunks of solid silver have been taken out. Prospecting outfits are going into the mines every day, and by the middle of the summer it is probable that 1,000 people will be in the camp. These mines lie in the same longitude as the Comstock and the rich diggings in the southern part of the state. Experts declare that when developed they will be found as good as any on the Pacific coast, as the ore is of a quality that cannot be mistaken. But the miners are dissatisfied with the name "Ruby Creek" because that title is borne by an older camp in the Okanogan district of Washington so they have decided to adopt a new name now that the region is assured of becoming prominent.—Moscow Star.

The Different Kinds of Gold.
"Most people suppose," says an assayer, "that all gold is alike when refined, but this is not the case. An experienced man can tell at a glance from what part of the world a gold piece comes, and in some cases from what part of a particular gold district the metal was obtained. The Australian gold, for instance, is distinctly redder than the California, and this difference in color is always perceptible, even when the gold is 1,000 fine. Again, the difference in weight being too small to be readily noticed in so large a piece. These octagonal coins were the most valuable ever struck."

The Brigham Marble Quarries.
The marble quarry lying north of Brigham City is creating considerable interest hereabouts. Mr. Lowe was in town this week showing a beautiful sample of the smoothly polished stone. A floor quality is seldom imported. The supply is literally inexhaustible; there are mountains of it easy of access. A buggy can be driven to the great ledges which run down close to the county road. For years float from this sleeping quarry has been gathered up, teamed off and placed in many farm houses in the vicinity, and there it is found to-day. The people never before knew the intrinsic value of the rough, unpolished material they were placing in their houses. A force of men will be put to work on the quarry next week, and the enterprise pushed to the front. There is enough marble there to supply the whole territory for hundreds of years.—Builder.

The Union Pacific Coal Output.

The report of the directors of the Union Pacific railway shows that during the year 1890 the total output mined and sold from the six coal camps operated by the company amounted to 1,050,074 tons, of which Rock Springs furnished about three-fourths, or 664,364 tons. In 1890 Rock Springs furnished only 626,408 tons, although the total output from all the camps was 1,208,178 tons. Hanna and Pleasant Valley supplied most of the increased output in 1890, as they were not in operation the previous year. The total receipts for coal in 1890 $1,725,487—a very pretty amount and one upon which the casual reader would say the company reaped a handsome profit, as a matter of fact their coal business that year conducted at a loss of $47,923. The gross receipts for the coal mined at Rock Springs in 1889 was $201,038, but it actually cost the company $211,475 to get that coal out. Bringing it down to the price and cost per ton, they sold their coal in 1889 for an average of $1.54 to $1.50 per ton, and it cost them $1.50 to $1.40 per ton to get it out. It was very little better in 1890, although the profits were small. Their total receipts from coal sold in 1890 were $1,062,992, of which the Rock Springs furnished $737,711. Their total profit upon this large business was only $75,494, of which Rock Springs furnished $10,562. The price per ton in 1890 was $1.30 to $1.20—a decrease of nearly 5 cents per ton over 1889. The cost per ton was $1.47 to $1.40—a decrease of nearly fifteen cents over 1889.

American Fork Slate Quarry.
Mr. Williams, of the firm of Williams & Summers, the owners of a large vein of roofing slate in American Fork cañon, was seen by an independent representative a few days ago, and in reply to the inquiry of what they were doing for their property, remarked: "At present the property lies dormant, awaiting the action of a number of Salt Lake capitalists who will soon take hold of the property and commence operations on a grand scale. Our slate lying will have a large demand, owing to its superior quality to foreign imports. A large number of the Salt Lake blocks now being constructed will, if our properties are in full operation at the time, be covered with slate from our quarries. We will locate our office and make our headquarters for supplies at American Fork. These quarries will give employment to a large force of men and will swell the commercial business of the beautiful and prosperous Mirror City.—American Fork Independent.

CACHE VALLEY'S PRIDE.

What Good Breeding Has Done for Her Equines.

The well-known veterinary surgeon of this city, Dr. H. G. Miles, states the truth when he announces that Cache Valley's leading industry in point of value is the horse raising industry. The number of fine horses that are stowed away in the stables and pastures of this valley, if brought together, would prove a surprise to even our most sanguine horsemen. Besides the forty or fifty stallions which are brought together every spring, there are hundreds of draught horses, trotters, racers, brood mares, all purpose horses and colts.

In the matter of brood mares, however, we are somewhat lacking. The importations have been mostly stallions, a horseholder should now turn in another direction and mares should be imported. There are enough stallions in the valley to suffice for some time to come, and the wonder is that more good mares have not been brought in. Capital invested in a score of fine, large mares, each capable of producing a colt worth in a year or two a couple of hundred dollars, would be a profitable source of revenue, as will be seen at a glance. It would at the least, mean the payment of expenses and a thousand dollars a year interest upon the investment. This is standard oil company's profit—and there is always a sale for good horses.

Good breeding has done wonders for the horses of this valley, and eventually all scrub stock will be removed from Cache. The facilities for good breeding have been placed within the reach of the poorest farmer, and the result is that fine colts are propagated everywhere.

Among those who have been most energetic in advancing the horse raising in this valley are: W. B. Thomas, Thomas Irvine, Santa Rosa, Tombs & Hickman Co., of Logan; C. Jensen, of Hyrum; Samuel Holt, of Millville; L. Tibbitts and the Messrs. Campbell, of Provo; George J. Housley, of Paradise; William Haslam, of Wellsville; Andrew Bigler, Mendon; Robert Kewley, Benson; Peter Christensen, Hyde Park; George Merrill, James Pitcher and Sylvester Lewis, Smithfield; R. T. Petty, of Richmond, all of whom have been instrumental in bringing fine horses into Cache valley.

There should be a review of horses held in this city during the coming autumn, and if held it should be thoroughly advertised throughout the intermountain country, in order that buyers from a distance could be here and see what our valley has to offer. By such methods as these the horse raising business could be made far more profitable than it is now, and the dealing in this noble animal improved.—Nation.

A NOTED MONTH.

From Kookin; la, Democrat.
August, 1887, was a noted month. It gave extreme heat and extreme cold, the results of which were disastrous to the public health. Cases of cholera, cholera morbus and diarrhea were abundant and there were numerous calls at the drug stores for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. Druggists of the city tell us that this remedy has been more frequently called for during the past month than at any other preparation, and that it has proven a panacea for the very worst cases. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is a meritorious medicinal preparation for all summer complaints for which it is recommended, and grows in popularity in this city and vicinity. The sales are increasing rapidly and wonderful cures are reported. For sale by Z. C. M. I. drug dept.
